Credentialing Rationale

1. The Relationship between Christian Ministry, Personal Lifestyle, and Credentialing: The request for credentialing means that you are seeking recognition by the British Columbia Conference of Mennonite Brethren Churches that you are, and will continue to be, a spiritual leader within the Mennonite Brethren community. The British Columbia Conference of Mennonite Brethren Churches believes that all spiritual leaders should be expected to live an exemplary Christian life in all aspects. It is important, therefore, that all British Columbia Conference of Mennonite Brethren Churches leaders and pastors:
 - (a) have and maintain a vibrant and healthy spiritual life that demonstrates a history of, and an ongoing commitment to, cultivating a relationship with God;
 - (b) affirm Canadian Conference of Mennonite Brethren Church teachings about the Bible and theology as outlined in the Confession of Faith;
 - (c) make exemplary ethical and Christian lifestyle choices that are consistent with Canadian Conference of Mennonite Brethren Church teachings including, but not limited to, those outlined in the Canadian Conference of Mennonite Brethren Churches Code of Christian Conduct;

(d) maintain healthy relationships that are conducive to the well-being of your spouse and children (if applicable), and others with whom you interact on a regular basis;

(e) have a clear sense of your spiritual gifts and abilities;

(f) demonstrate a love for Jesus by courageously sharing the gospel in word and deed; and

(g) in all other ways, maintain an active and healthy Christian life as an example to all with whom you interact or who may look to you as a spiritual example.

All areas of your Christian walk and leadership may be examined as part of your application for credentialing within the British Columbia Conference of Mennonite Brethren Churches.

2. Personal Information Protection Act Compliance and Consent: The information requested in this questionnaire and obtained throughout the credentialing process (including the interview) will only be used by those leaders within the Mennonite Brethren conference who have been designated to assess your suitability for credentialing in the ministry role indicated in this questionnaire. Information will not be disclosed without your consent, other than to the leadership of your employer and church (if applicable). By providing the personal information in this questionnaire and credentialing process, you are consenting to this use and limited disclosure. You are also consenting to us contacting the educational, employment, and other references you have provided (including your spouse, if applicable) and obtaining information from them that is relevant to the credentialing process. The application and any related documents and information will be kept in the British Columbia Conference of Mennonite Brethren Churches office in confidentiality and in a safe and secure location. Any concerns about the privacy of personal information may be directed to the British Columbia Conference of Mennonite Brethren Churches privacy officer.

Godly Character - Pastors and Christian leaders are not immune from temptation that can lead to addictions, sexual sins, and character weaknesses prohibited in the Bible (e.g., Romans 13:13). Though these may sometimes be hidden, minimized, or denied by Christian leaders, they always diminish ministry effectiveness, and if left unchecked, often result in a serious betrayal of trust, public embarrassment, loss of ministry position, as well as harm to individuals within or outside the congregation.

65. In Colossians 3:5-10, Christians are given a list of sins that are to be “put to death.” Are you free from addictive or habitual practices that are manifestations of any of these sins (e.g., regular uncontrolled outbursts of anger, viewing of pornographic materials, compulsive spending and greed, vindictive behaviour, use of addictive substances, etc.)?
66. According to the Bible, sexual intimacy rightfully takes place only within marriage (a publicly recognized exclusive union between one man and one woman). In passages such as 1 Corinthians 6:18-20, Christians are therefore exhorted to avoid sexual immorality.
- a. Have you been involved in any non-marital sexual activity?
 - b. If so, to what extent has there been confession, repentance, and efforts at redemptive restoration of broken relationships so that your spiritual health, reputation, and effectiveness in your ministry role will not be impaired?
67. Christ invites us to place Him first in our lives above other disordered desires or lesser gods (e.g., Psalm 24:3-5, I Corinthians 6:9-11, I John 5:21). Even though these may be culturally acceptable, they are antithetical to faithful discipleship. As such, the Bible warns us to be vigilant against any tendencies toward idolatry within our own hearts (e.g., pride, seeking the approval of others, using power or positional authority in unhealthy ways, perpetuating economic injustice by wilfully ignoring the needs of people who are poor, etc.). What areas of sin do you need to be particularly aware of and be vigilant to resist and overcome in your own life?

68. If you are struggling, or have struggled in the past, with any sinful behaviours related to the last three questions, what steps are you taking, and/or have you taken, to overcome these areas?
69. Many people have experienced significant traumas – whether at one point in time or over a longer duration. These traumas can cause deep and long-lasting wounds in one’s character. Have you experienced such trauma(s)?
 - a. If so, how have you have sought healing, reconciliation, and/or counselling so that your spiritual health, reputation, and effectiveness in your ministry role will not be impaired?
70. Describe how you have been growing in Christlikeness, especially in the fruit of the Spirit and the qualities identified in Colossians 3:12-17 (showing kindness, compassion, patience, gentleness, humility, forgiveness, love, peace, community accountability, speaking the truth in love, etc.).
71. Is there anything in your past about which you have not been asked in this questionnaire that could become a problem for you in your ministry and that leaders in the Mennonite Brethren conference should know about, recognizing that you are and will be in a position of trust and a model of Christian lifestyle expected of a spiritual leader as described in the Credentialing Rationale at the beginning of this form?
